1800 PASSENGERS ARE DROWNED

When the Titanic, the Worlds Largest Ship Strikes Iceberg and Goes to Bottom.

Saturday night, flashing over the ocean by wireless came the call, "C. Q. D." Nothing in it to the laymen or the landsman, but to those "who go down to the sea in ships," and whose business lies by the deep waters, the message was pregnant with a meaning that might, at any time, mean to other of those tragedies of the sea that from time to time shock the whole civilized world. This is the call of the ocean-going vessel for assistance, and it came from the wireless operator of the mighty Titanic, the newest of the White Star Line's ocean greyhounds, and the largest ship afloat. Carrying her human freight of 2,300 souls the giant steamer had struck an iceberg and was reported sinking by the head. So critical was her situation that the women were being put off in lifeboats. The information that is at present at hand will be found on the next page.

FACTS

Are stubborn things to ignore or controvert. The most important fact we know of at present is the great opportunity that awaits the man seeking to establish himself on a fine farm or ranch hereabouts. Our soil is so fertile that it will grow anything that is intended to grow in this latitude and the climate is so mild in winter that stock can be allowed to remain out without danger to their health. Splendid wealth-producing ranches will cover the district where land now may be bought at very low prices and on terms which are virtually your own. Would you learn more? Come in or write.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

PUBLICITY MAN ARRIVES
L. H. Mason, who was the choice of the Board of Trade as publicity man, arrived from Chicago on Saturday, and is now down to work. Offices for him have been secured in the Day block, and he will be pleased to meet all who are interested in the work.

Mrs. J. I. Poole will not receive this month.

Mrs. Titsworth will not receive this month.

Mrs. Halpin will not receive tomorrow nor again this season.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Cameron spent last week visiting friends in Edmonton.

The latest designs in spring millinery are always to be found at Mrs. Mobley's.

Miss Honor Tett, sister of E. J. Tett, Secretary-treasurer of the town, arrived here this week on a visit.

Charles Watkins, of F. L. Smith, Ltd., returned last week from Vancouver accompanying Mrs. Watkins on her return trip from Australia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Burris leave for Calgary in a few days where Mrs. Burris will undergo treatment by a specialist of that city.

After a six months' lease of the Comet Theatre, J. R. Shilto handed over the reins of management to his father on Wednesday. Mr. Shilto is contemplating some extensive improvements to this popular play house.

P. F. Huntley, one of our old timers, now located at Onion Lake, Sask., was a visitor in Lacombe last week on his way home from the Calgary Bull Sale. As usual Mr. Huntley was a prize winner with his splendid Herefords.

H. A. Day is building a handsome cottage on the south end of Gull Lake. Many other parties from Edmonton and Calgary have lumber on the ground and will build this spring. Sherwin Williams paint is the most economical house paint on the market because it covers the most surface per gallon, looks best, and wears the longest possible time. Use S. W. P. this year and be sure of a lasting job. Morrison & Johnston.

A carload of Fords arrived in Lacombe on Saturday last. They were for Messrs. Campbell, McLearn, Storey, Dr. Sharpe and R. J. Scott. Messrs. Day and Trimble & Lundy have also acquired Fords during the past week. Messrs. Dr. Hynes, Dr. Simpson and Dr. Collier have McLaughlin Buicks on the way, and expect them any day now.

The Great West Livery and feed barn, recently completed by Mr. Garner, is now ready for business. Accommodation for fifty horses is provided, and the proprietor pays special attention to transient feeding.

Mrs. Gideon has a boarding house on the same property, where farmers and others can procure meals at reasonable rates.

W. H. Johnson, a well known farmer of the district, is starting a general store at Morning-side. He is at present in Calgary on a purchasing trip, and hopes to have his store in operation in a week or ten days.

Since the fire which destroyed the store of the Morning-side Trading Co., some weeks ago, Morning-side has been without a store.

As usual Lacombe took a great number of the prizes in the cattle and hog classes at the cattle show in Calgary last week. W. E. Tees, who is the largest exhibitor for Lacombe, took prizes in the Galloway class; several in the fat steer class; grade cows, champion beef animal, any age, and first for the best carload of hogs. A. F. McGill and Lew. Hutchinson were other prize winners from this district.

We have received the splendid 42nd annual report of the Royal Bank of Canada, which is a pamphlet of 88 pages, filled with interesting statistics of the bank's business and remarkable progress. A list of stockholders is also shown. Its capital authorized is $10,000,000; capital paid up, $6,251,080; reserve, $7,056,188; undivided profits, $401,480; deposits, $88,204,808; and total assets, $110,528,512. A map of the Dominion, showing each agency and other features is enclosed in the booklet.

C. M. O'Brien, Socialist M. P., in the Alberta Legislature, addressed a meeting in Gil-mour's Hall on Sunday afternoon last. There was a very small turnout, but Mr. O'Brien delivered an interesting address on questions of the day from a Socialist's standpoint. (One great reform Mr. O'Brien advocated was that about thirty-nine wooden men be manufactured for use as legislators, intimating that they would give equally as good service as the present members of the legislature of Alberta. He would have them fitted with movable parts, which could be operated by strings from the premier's chair. He expressed himself as satisfied with the advance of Socialism in the province and looked for his party to make great headway during the next year or two.)

TO ADVERTISE DISTRICT

H. J. Angell Evans, the energetic president of the Lacombe Agricultural Society, is determined that the opportunity for advertising the district offered by the Calgary Fair and the Dry Farming Congress at Leth-bridge shall not be overlooked. He thinks that valuable advertising can be done very efficiently and cheaply at these fairs, and has called a meeting of his directors and members of the society for Saturday, April 20th, at 3 p.m. in the town hall, Lacombe, when the whole matter will be discussed.

THE MOST TERRIBLE MARINE HORROR OF THE CENTURY

New York, April 15—More than 1,500 persons, it is feared, sank to their death early yesterday when within four hours after she crashed into an iceberg, the mammoth White Star liner Titanic, bound from Liverpool to New York on her maiden voyage, went to the bottom off the Newfoundland banks. Of the approximately 2,200 persons on board the giant liner, some of them of worldwide prominence, only 675 are known to have been saved. The White Star line office in New York, while keeping up hope to the last, were free to admit that there had been "horrible loss of life."

Accepting the early estimates of the fatality list, the disaster is the greatest in the marine history of the world. Nearest approaching it in magnitude were the disasters to the steamer Atlantic in 1873, when 574 lives were lost, and to the Labrador in 1898, with a fatality list of 571. Should it prove that the other liners, notably the Allan liners, Parisian and Virginian, have not picked up other passengers, the extent of the calamity will have been even greater. This hope still remains.

News of the sinking of the liner and the terrible loss of life in consequence came early last evening with all the greater shock because hope had been buoyed up all day by reports that the steamer although badly damaged, was not in a sinking condition, and that all her passengers had been safely taken off. The messages were mostly unofficial, however, and none came direct from the liner so that a lurking fear remained of possible bad news to come.

Shortly after 7 o'clock last night, there came flashing over the wires from Cape Race, within four hundred miles of which the liner in the treacherous New Foundland region had struck the berg which brought her to grief at 2:20 o'clock Monday morning, three hours and fifty-five minutes after receiving her death blow, the Titanic had sunk. The news came from the steamer Carpathia, relayed by the White Star Olympic, and revealed that by the time the Carpathia, outward bound from New York and racing for the Titanic on a wireless call, reached the scene, the doomed vessel had sunk. Left on the surface, however, were lifeboats from the Titanic and in them were some 675 survivors of the disaster. These, according to the advices, the Carpathia picked up and are now being brought to New York. For the rest, the scene as the Carpathia came up was one of desolation. The $10,000,000 floating palace, on which nearly 2200 passengers had been en route to this country, the biggest ship in the world had gone down, snuffing out in her downward plunge hundreds of human lives.

Few of Men Saved. A significant line in the Cape Race despatch was the announcement that of those saved by the Carpathia, nearly all were women and children. Should it prove that no other vessel picked up any passengers from the sinking liner, this might mean that few of the men on board had been saved, as the proportion of women and children among the passengers was large. The same facts would likewise spell the doom of practically the entire crew of 860.

In the cabins were 260 women and children, but it is not known how many among the 730 third class passengers. In the first cabin there were 128 women and 15 children, and in the second cabin 79 women and eight children.

Kalifax, N.S., Apr. 15.—The place where the Titanic sank, according to an official of the Marine Department here, is about 500 miles from Halifax and the water at that point, about seventy miles south of the Grand Banks, is at least two miles deep. It is midway between Sable Island and Cape Race, and in a line with some dangerous sands which, however, might have been a place of safety had there been time to run the Titanic there and bench her on the northern side. News of the disaster was difficult to obtain today. The Canadian warship, Niobe, has a powerful apparatus, but the officials on board say they got nothing and the government wireless station heard very little. Lloyd's agent here has not yet had word of the sinking of the ship.

The Hospital Ball

The most enjoyable event of the season took place on Thursday night last, the occasion being the Hospital Ball. About sixty couples assembled at the Opera House, and dancing was kept up until three a.m. The floor was in good condition, the music good, and everyone present appeared to have come with the intention of having a good time—and they did.

The guests were received by a committee consisting of Mesdames McKenty, Urquhart and Elliott, and these ladies saw that all strangers were made welcome.

The ladies of the Hospital Aid attended to the supper arrangements, and after all had partaken of the dainties provided, there was still enough good things left to refresh half the town. To dispose of the surplus an auction sale of cakes etc., was held, A. Belcher making a very suitable auctioneer.

The proceeds of the sale amounted to many dollars, which go to swell the hospital funds. Bidding was very brisk, some of the cakes bringing over a dollar.

The ball was arranged for the purpose of raising funds to clear off the balance due on the fuel account, the only account owing by the Board. It amounted to about $170, and, thanks to the very hearty response of the citizens of the town and country, this sum was realized, and the hospital is now clear of debt on account of running expenses. The ladies who worked so hard selling tickets are entitled to the sincere thanks of the Hospital Board. Mesdames Kerr, Graham, Scott and Hynes, and Misses Pie and Shilleto, were the ladies to whom the task of disposing of the tickets fell and they proved themselves expert salesladies.

Lynch's orchestra provided the music in their usual efficient manner.

Lacombe Bull Sale

The annual sale of pure bred bulls will be held in Lacombe on Wednesday, April 25th, under the auspices of the Alberta Cattle Breeders' Association and the Department of Agriculture. Entries for this sale close on April 28th. Rules and entry forms can be obtained on application to the secretary, E. L.

Richardson, Calgary.

From present indications there will be a very large number of bulls of the various breeds offered.

WHY HE WAS LATE

"What made you so late?"

"I met Smithson."

"Well, that is no reason why you should be an hour late getting home to supper."

"I know, but I asked him how he was feeling, and he insisted on telling me about his stomach trouble."

"Did you tell him to take Chamberlain's Tablets?"

"Sure, that is what he needs." Sold by all dealers.

Get After the Weeds

Lacombe, April 9th.
Editor Western Globe.

Sir:—In discussing the many important questions that are before the public I had hoped that some one would think of the noxious weed situation. I consider this question of vital importance to our agricultural interests. I think this an opportune time for a note of warning, especially with regard to "stinkweed," which is spreading through this immediate district to an alarming extent.

Parties who have it will do well to plan a vigorous campaign against it. If there is a weed inspector this year, and he does his work as it should be done, there are some farms and other parts of farms that will be condemned as far as crop is concerned. The Department is determined, if possible, to keep this weed under control, and it may require drastic measures.

There are a great many patches of Canada Thistles in the district that can easily be controlled by timely effort. The ball mustard is almost universal and is doing incalculable (al) most damage. The wormseed mustard is all too general; the taney mustard is creeping in, not to speak of wild oats and some other pests. It stands to every farmer's interest to see that these weeds are kept in check by thorough cultivation of the land, harrowing after the crop is up as well as most thoroughly cleaning the seed. Cleaning the seed cannot be too much insisted on as it not only removes the weed seed, but gives a more uniform grain production, an increased yield and of better quality. I hope, too, that every farmer will assist in the control of the noxious weeds by assisting the weed inspector in his work by furnishing information, as it is for the general good.

Respectfully yours,
Ex Weed Inspector

PURCHASE OF CHAS. PLANK

The funeral of the late Chas. Plank took place on Thursday afternoon last. The M. W. A., of which the deceased was a member, took charge of the arrangements, and turned out in a body to pay their last respects to their dead brother.

A most impressive funeral service was held in the Methodist church, at which the Rev. Locke officiated. After the service the casket was taken to the C. P. R. depot and shipped to Acton, Ont., deceased's old home, where interment will take place. A brother of the deceased accompanied the body.

For reumatism you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. Try it and see how quickly it gives relief. For sale by all dealers.

Mixed Farming is not Keeping Pace With Our Population

Geo. Harcourt, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, points out the folly of grain raising only when other markets are so profitable.

"Alberta is wheat crazy," were the opening remarks of Geo. Harcourt, at the annual convention of the Provincial dairymen at Red Deer last week.

His address, which had for its subject, "Neglected Opportunities," ultimately turned out to be a strong plea for mixed farming. "We're absolutely wheat crazy," he said, "we are all advertising our country as a wheat country. Some come west to improve their health, others to improve their wealth, and, in doing so, extract the resources of the land to make the money as quickly as possible irrespective of the cost to the land in the loss of fertility. It is a good thing that nature will not let us take the fertility out of the land in a year or two, or we would do it, and then we would have a country fit for nothing, unless we pack into it what we took out of it. It would be an everlasting shame to our credit if we carried this grain growing too far. In carrying it as far as we have we have depleted our cattle, and today there are less cattle in the country than there were ten years ago, and less than there was five years ago, while the population is ever on the increase."

Money in horses. Mr. Harcourt urged the delegates to go in for raising horses, cattle, hogs and poultry. "Horses," he said, "were a good price now, and would be as good a price for 25 years to come. This, he argued, would be the case because there are only 2,000,000 acres of Alberta land under plow today, while there are still 160,000,000 acres to be developed. In developing this countless numbers of horses would be required, and Alberta should supply this need.

Opportunity in dairying. There is also a great opportunity in dairying. Milk produced in the province is paid for at the rate of $2.10 per cwt. in Calgary, at Edmonton $2.25 per cwt., while Ontario is making money selling her milk at $1.00 per cwt. and considers the price of $1.30 a windfall. At the same time, feed can be produced in the west much cheaper than in the east. The soil is naturally adapted to the raising of feed, and the climate is not against it. It is not necessary to build expensive stables and the west is not yet supplying its own demand. The population is increasing so fast that the country will never catch up to the demand unless we start in earnest right now.

In poultry, Mr. Harcourt assured the delegates that Alberta was importing $200,000 worth of eggs yearly. Yet, at the same time, our climate is particularly well adapted to poultry raising. Opening for Vegetables. The same thing obtains in vegetables. We are eating British Columbia and Nova Scotia vegetables, which we could very well produce ourselves.

In conclusion, Mr. Harcourt urged the farmers to get away from exclusive grain growing and to get into other avenues of Knowledge gave Wheeler his power. Power gave Wheeler his property and his ability to win $1,000 prize for his wheat.

Mixed Farming

The announcement that the officials of the Dry Farming Congress are going to supplement the work of other agencies by conducting a systematic campaign to educate the farmers to adopt "mixed farming," will be received in the country. It may be that many of the farmers do not require such education. What the farmer would like to know is where is the money coming from to buy the stock necessary to carry on mixed farming. If the propaganda proposed can only succeed in convincing the farmer that it would be better to start in the most modest way and grow, than not to start at all, it will have accomplished great good.

In Western Canada we are so used to thinking in big figures and along big lines it is difficult at times to convince a man that a modest start will ultimately lead to big things. Ask ten farmers why they do not go in for stock and nine of them will reply by asking where they are to get the money to buy the stock with. Farmers in the west have a large vision and the idea of starting with two animals does not appeal to them. Yet if mixed farming is to become general that is the way in which it will have to start.

Farmers will have to wait for the natural increase to stock their farms, and a note of encouragement to them to make such a start is what is most needed. Some may say that that view is painting the western farmer in cheap colors, but anyone acquainted with farming conditions in Alberta knows that the present race of farmers are experiencing not only all the drawbacks of pioneer conditions in a new country, but are also heavily involved in the financial responsibility of paying for their land, to say nothing of the liabilities incurred in buying machinery and the losses suffered through off years. If there had been good years in 1910 and 1911 the outcry over car shortage would not have been so great. The cry for cars was accentuated by the fact that the farmers have pressing demands upon them and every hour the grain was held up meant added loss and expense. Doubtless mixed farming will come in time. If the government could arrange long term loans on easy payments it would come all the sooner. At the present it is idle to expect the farmers to reverse conditions on credit. They simply cannot do it.

The Reading Farmer

Seager Wheeler, grower of the $1000 prize wheat, says:

"It was always my object to do things thoroughly on the farm as far as I was able, working to the best of my ability. I am a book farmer and an indoor farmer as well. We often hear uncomplimentary remarks passed about such men, but show me the farmer who does not read and I will show you a poor farmer."—Country life in Canada.

Reader, are you getting along well on the farm? Are you making good? Are you not only making money but are you farm retaining all its strength and fertility?

If you are not a successful farmer in every respect, investigate the size of your library. Does it contain one single book on the subject of farming? Have you any plan whatever that you follow in building up a small library with books connected with your life work? Too many farm homes contain no books of any description, no pictures, no music, no diversion that gives charm to country life. And the boys and girls take the first opportunity of leaving the home and going to the city.

You cannot make big things of this, and you cannot make a prosperous farmer of a happy farmer's boy with no books and clothes.

There is a large importance given by the world to material things, to wheat and cattle, to dollars and cents, to trade and barter. These things alone don't give stability and permanence to the home. It is a farmer for any other reason does not succeed it is because he does not give sufficient importance to the material thing in his individual world, that is to his own soul, to the culture of his mind, to that of his family, which makes him different and superior to his horses and cattle.

The trouble with uneducated Don Cronin, who committed suicide last week, was not that he was a poor farmer, but that he was a poor man. He had no books, no pictures, no music, no diversion that gives charm to country life. He had no culture, no refinement, no sense of the value of his mind, no sense of the value of his family, which makes him different and superior to his horses and cattle.

Lacombe Family's Sad Bereavement

The following telegram from Vancouver refers to Mrs. John McNeill, formerly of Lacombe, and well known here.

"South Vancouver, B. C., April 12.—With his wife sick in the hospital, his two children, one aged 2 and the other 4, dead, Mr. J. McNeill, who resides on Forty-ninth Ave., is now almost distracted with grief. Both of the little McNeill children died this week within twenty-four hours of each other, from complications. The younger succumbed on Sunday night and the oldest on the following Monday.

Unknown to the mother, who lies suffering in the hospital, arrangements are now being made for the burial of the infants. Mr. McNeill has feared to tell his wife of the awful calamity which has befallen them, for fear of the consequences. Accordingly, he has been trying to determine whether or not to send the babes back to Lacombe, Alberta, where he formerly lived.

Fourteen weeks ago Mrs. McNeill was taken ill. She was removed to the hospital, where an operation was performed. Since that time she has been holding her own, but is not sufficiently recovered to leave the institution.

Forced to earn his living and unable to care for the children himself, Mr. McNeill was compelled to place them in the Rescue Home of the Salvation Army. Sunday night he was called to the bedside of his younger baby and watched in helpless grief its tiny life wafted away.

Stricken with sorrow, and not yet recovered from the shock of losing his youngest, Mr. McNeill on Monday night received another call. This time it was to take up a harrowing death watch at the bedside of his eldest, waiting as the clock ticked off the brief moments, each one drawing his only remaining babe further and further toward that land from which there is no returning, until at last the Grim Reaper won his battle and the spirit of the child took flight to its God."

The remains of the little ones arrived in Lacombe on Sunday and the funeral was held on Monday. The sympathy of their friends is extended to the grief-stricken father and mother.

Easter Weddings

HANNA—ROSS
Mr. W. H. Hanna, assistant Dominion Lands agent at Red Deer, and well known in Lacombe, is receiving the congratulations of his friends on his marriage at Innisfail, on April 3, to Miss Josephine B. Ross, formerly of the office staff of McLean Bros., Red Deer. The wedding was a quiet one. Mr. Natherson, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ross, parents of the bride, came in from Prairie Grange for the event. The wedding trip was to Calgary and Banff, and Mr. and Mrs. Hanna are now settled in their new home on 3rd St., north, opposite the school. Both the young people are favorites in the town and will have the heartiest of good wishes.

PROUT—TRIMBLE
Lone Spruce Farm, Red Deer, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday week at 2 o'clock, when Miss Amy Trimble, eldest daughter of the house, was united in marriage to Mr. W. Prout, of Calgary. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends present, and the home was brightly decorated for the occasion with pink carnations.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. A. H. Trimble, and was charmingly gowned in silk marquisette, with trimming of baby pink lace and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, lilies of the valley, and maiden hair fern. She was assisted by Miss Jane Trimble, who was attired in blue velvet, with bouquet of pink carnations, and Mrs. W. J. Johnson, of Penhold. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. F. W. Lock, of Lacombe, and Rev. W. J. Haggitt, of Calgary.

The Calgary Bull Sale

The annual auction sale of pure-bred bulls in connection with the fair, was held at the show building, Calgary, on Wednesday morning by Auctioneer S. W. Paisley, of Lacombe.

Shorthorn animals prevailed largely at the sale, several splendid young bulls of excellent beef qualities going to buyers at good round prices ranging from a trifle over the hundred mark to $360, which was realized on Silver King, a fine type of Durham, which was sold by David Sinclair of Innisfail.

One hundred and ten bulls were listed for sale, and with remote exceptions these were all bought under the hammer. Six breeds were represented at the sale—Aberdeen Angus (9), Galloway (1), Holstein (5), Jersey (2), Shorthorn (60), Hereford (31).

There was lively bidding for all the animals, the auctioneer having little difficulty in doubling the original bid in most cases.

"By all means the best pure-bred bull sale we have had," commented "Richardson," a local expert. "The animals are of a superior quality. The sales entry list is larger than ever, and the interest and prices indicate that the farmers and stockmen of this part of the west are taking a commendable interest in the production of thoroughbred cattle."

AN ERROR

In another column the date of the annual bull sale here is given as April 29th. The date should have read May 29th.

There is probably more trashy stuff sold in the baking powder line than in any other line. Most of it contains large quantities of alum. To avoid the use of this dangerous acid, see that all the ingredients are plainly stated in English on the package. The words "No Alum" on the package or in an ad. is not sufficient.

The Assessment

The secretary-treasurer of the town is busy these days making the assessment under the new town act, which provides that the whole revenue be raised on the land value of the town. While this task would appear to be a light one to the outsider, it is anything but that to the secretary-treasurer. To arrive at the actual cash value of lots in town is a difficult task, and the real estate men of the town have been pressed into service to render assistance in arriving at a fair valuation. These gentlemen are more in touch with values than the ordinary citizen, everyone of the twenty firms having more or less property for sale, located in every section of the town, and their assistance is appreciated. From present indications the value of the real estate will be under the million dollar mark, but as the same amount of money has to be raised this year as in previous years, the rate will have to be pretty high. Improved lots will reap the benefit of the single tax, as they will only have to pay the same taxes as vacant property adjoining. This should be an incentive to every property owner to commence making his property revenue producing.

"My little son had a very severe cold. I was recommended to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and before a small bottle was used he was as well as ever," writes Mrs. H. Silks, 29 Dowling St., Sydney, Australia. This remedy is for sale by all dealers.

WITTENBURG

Farming heads the program around our village.

The new firm is paying 35¢ per lb. for butter.

Have you tested your seed grain? Better get busy before the time comes to start the new grain drill.

The ice is nearly all out of the Medicine, and so is most of the water, by the way things look around the log pile. But then Jim needs a rest as drying logs is hard work.

Bush fires are very numerous these days. The other day David Exerts lost his stable wagon and truck together with a load of bundles. He was away at the time, and got home just in time to get his horses out of the stable. Several of his neighbors lost buildings.

It is very good to see the ice running across the Medicine River, through the Valley, and out to the Mountain Home. It kind of takes the rough side of our homestead duties to hear the engine whistle.

Mrs. P. E. Teets and son, from Calgary are visiting at the Orson Archer home this week.

Myrtion Chaland is the new driver on the Wittenburg stage. Myrtion is a good man for that job, having proper measure of the Rimbey stage for over a year.

Miss Alice Willits visited with Mrs. G. N. Taylor one day last week.

Mrs. Clarence Chaland left the other day on an extended visit with her mother at Baltimore.

Frank Lee is very much on the road these days, freighting with a four-horse outfit for their big store at Wittenburg. They are adding new shelves and filling them up too, every day. They are paying the high cash price for produce, and are turning over their goods quick at small profits.

Mark Stamppe got quite a scare the other day when a big black bear got right in the road in front of him. Mark says he is not afraid of a bear when the fellow is fat—who is? But a lean one makes him run every time.

Well, after all the big sales there are a few people left in the country yet, and now that G. N. Taylor is busy with his farm work will very likely stay until after seeding. Then look for sale bills. Although, if you are bound to have a sale, the auctioneer says he is willing to quit work for a sale any time, and that all you have to do is to write him of your intentions. He does all the rest of the work satisfactory to you or no pay.

Alberta Has Best Educational System

"It is my unbiased opinion that here in Alberta you have about the best and the strongest educational system of any province throughout the Dominion. I do not say this because you have been courteous enough to bring me to this convention all the way from Ontario and because you have paid all my expenses. It is my opinion which I would express under any circumstances.

"Comparing me no less an authority than Dr. Creelman, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, a man whose knowledge of educational affairs is profound and extensive, this tribute to Alberta's educational system is well earned. Alberta to feel proud of herself. Dr. Creelman came from Ontario especially for the purpose of addressing the Convention of the Alberta Educational Association, which met last week, and gave an address upon the scientific study of agriculture, and its adoption to the curriculum of the schools.

"I want to give you some information from all our experiences so that you will not be making the mistakes which we made for the past 20 years," said Mr. Creelman.

"It is little use preparing our roads, which will, in all probability be there in a decade of five years. That is the experience with curricula all the world over. In the province of Ontario when the agricultural college was founded we found ourselves in the bush stage. When the trees were there no body troubled about farming. Trees were the enemy of man, and the main object of every one was to clear the ground of the timber. Now in 1912 the man in agriculture who does not know agriculture thoroughly cannot be a successful man.

"We have come to the firm belief that an agricultural college is not the place to teach a student to farm. The agricultural college we can improve on the old methods but we cannot teach farming. The college is for the boy who learns on his father's farm at home.

"We are teaching along entirely different lines. There have been many changes in the curricula. The full course at the college is really four years, but the majority of the students only take a two years course, and they leave with a knowledge of farming are admitted for the course of study.

"Stock raising in conjunction with farming was a matter of vital importance and should receive more attention than it has done up to the present time," said Dr. Creelman.

After 50 or 60 years of experience asserted the speaker, the farmers in Ontario have realized the necessity for the drainage of their farms. The college in Ontario has done much to encourage the farmers to take up the matter, and as a result of their efforts alone, 131,000 acres of land have been drained in Ontario. It is found that by taking proper measures a proper course of instruction to drain the land, an increase of $20 per acre in the output has been gained. "And $2, 620,000 in Ontario still means a great deal of money," said Mr. Creelman pointedly, amid laughter.

"The charge has been laid against the farmers that they are responsible for the high cost of living. This is quite without foundation. The number of consumers has greatly increased while the number of farmers has decreased, and furthermore the people have more extravagant tastes now than formerly.

"Science applied to farming, declared the doctor, is a very different from science applied to anything else. In many instances in farming five times as big returns can be had by the use of a little science.

"There is no business in the world that will stand as much shrinkage and will allow of as much carelessness as farming."

"Between the average and the possible results in a great number of cases there is a difference of 700 per cent., which shows that there must be a blunder somewhere."

The speaker gave instances in support of his contention that large profits accrue from the application of scientific methods to farming. In one case a man who had paid attention to a small orchard on his farm made a profit of $600.

Text books had been issued by the Ontario college on the subject of agriculture for use in the public schools, said Dr. Creelman, but they had not been successful. Eventually it was discovered that the teachers had not been receiving any instruction as to the teaching of the course, and that they did not have the time for it.

"I do not know if it is so here, but in Ontario the teachers are over-worked and under-paid," said the doctor. "If ever, things have now been changed and the teachers have on the subject."

"I must say," declared the speaker in drawing his remarks to a conclusion, "that you have a better course of instruction here than we ever had in Ontario, and that is because you started upon correct lines, and we did not. You have about the best and strongest educational system of any province in the country."

How to Work The Incubator

To some there is a sort of fascination about running incubators, while others go about it in a disinterested manner, bent on following directions only. Those with an investigating turn of mind like to find out the whys and wherefores, and are apt to waste considerable time tearing up the manual and doing it more than good. It is well to understand the principle on which your machine works, and know the effects of the different parts, but at the same time there is no use in determining the machine that is thoroughly tested before being sent out. When you receive your machine the first thing is to see that it is properly put together, according to directions. Of course, a good dry cell, one that will live from mold, is the best. But it is not necessary to have a cellar in order to run your incubator. Any room in the dwelling house, or even a good room that is free from drafts in the barn, will do. Some say a hen is better than the centre of the room, as thus it will be free from knocks from passers-by. Set the machine out of the draft, where the sun alone will not strike it. No should it be set too close to a stove or heating pipes or radiator. It should not touch the walls.

Only the best of should be used. Start the lamp, and run it a day and a night, and no longer, if the regulator does not work properly. Do your experiment before you put your eggs in the machine. For a few days keep the door closed, and if you are a beginner, as these can be tested, and easier and generally much better.

With the importance of incubators you really have very little to do, except follow the directions which go with each machine. Different machines have different systems of heating, and regulating different positions of the thermometer, etc., and they have to be run in different directions for your own particular machine. Some machines will tell you to run the thermometer to 101, others at 100, and some at 103. This is a good thing to know, and to be sure of, for the regulator is the key to the whole matter. The regulator is the key to the whole matter. The regulator is the key to the whole matter. The regulator is the key to the whole matter.

If you know of anything that would be of interest to the community or your friends who live at a distance, that are taking this paper, or that will make Rimbey look interesting in the public eye, let us know about it and we will do our best to report it.

Rimbey's general real estate agent, Joseph Marshall, reports the sale of the S.E. 1/4 6-43-1 to Mr. Aunger.

Mr. Birch and Family are now living on their homestead on Sec. 2-2-23, where Mr. Birch is prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith work.

Farmers of district No. 4 desiring gopher poison will find it at the store.

Councillors' meeting will be held at the Methodist Saturday.

Mr. Velt is reported on the sick list this week.

Mr. Herald Eckhart and Miss Laine Rimbey drove to Lacombe last Wednesday and were very quietly married. They were accompanied by Miss Ethel, sister of the bride. These young folks need no introduction as they are well and favorably known in this community where they have both lived for many years. On arriving at the home of the bride, Thursday evening, they were given the usual social made by the boys of the community from the district of which they both reside, and have gone to house keeping on the groom's ranch north-east of Rimbey where the best wishes of a host of friends will go with them.

Mountain Grove S.D.

The residents of the Mountain Grove school district have come to the conclusion that it is time the district was living up. It is the hope of many of them that a literary and debating society can be organized, and that social matters may come in for more attention in the future. As a preliminary the purchase of an organ for the school house is contemplated. A meeting of all interested is called for next Saturday night, 20th inst., when the matter will be taken up.

Special Meeting of Agricultural Society

There will be a special meeting of the Central Alberta Agricultural Society's Directors, members and all others who are in any way interested, in the town hall, Lacombe, on Saturday, April 20th at 3 p.m.

I expect every one of our directors to respond to this call. The greatest opportunity of a lifetime to advertise the productive merits of this district is within our grasp, and it is up to every resident to help seize it by their presence at this gathering and hear all about it, and let the country see how many men there are who are really interested in the growth of the district in which we live.

RIMBEY

Rev. Newman wrote exams at Bentley last week.

Miss Hoebe Reed, who has been attending school at Edmonton, the past winter returned home last week.

Mr. Henry Williams, who has been quite sick for several weeks past, is improving very slowly. He is now at his farm west of Rimbey.

A visit of the line-man would be very much appreciated by those who have phones as several of them are badly out of order.

THE CLIVE REPORTER

Published Under the Auspices of the Clive Board of Trade

Happenings in and Around Clive.

The children of the village have been enjoying the splendid weather of the Easter holidays.

Mr. Simpson of Westling school and Mr. Black of North Star, were attending the teachers' convention at Calgary last week.

Mr. Netherton and family, who left here about two weeks ago, are now near Lloydminster, where Mrs. Netherton is teaching school.

Mrs. Wm. Norton, Jr., is visiting for a week with Mrs. McNeill, north-east of Clive.

Mrs. Fulthorp, of Stettler, is visiting at present with Mrs. J. Fulthorp, at Clive.

Mr. A. A. Smith has begun the erection of a cottage for Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Sr., who will arrive about the first of May.

Mr. Emery Johnson is erecting a new slaughter house about a mile from the village, near the west crossing and north of the track.

The funeral of the young child of Walter King took place on Friday last and interment was made at Tees.

Charles Burrows has arrived in town and has taken charge of the Alberta Pacific Elevator.

We are glad to see the soil turning black everywhere we look. The man who is not out upon his land plowing and discing these days is the same man who will try to knock the country next fall for early frost in September.

Sam Hedenburg, north of town, reports all his spring wheat sown last week.

Mrs. Nakken, of Lacombe has been visiting a few days with Mrs. L. R. Macdonald.

Rev. T. C. Buchanan, superintendent of missions, spent a day in Clive last week.

Mr. John Kennedy is walking around as brisk as ever again. About two weeks ago he bravely and gallantly stopped a run-away team on the street at Clive. Though injured by the contact, he bravely held on until the horses were quieted. The occupant of the carriage, Mrs. Humes, was thrown to the ground and was slightly injured.

School opens again on Tuesday. The second department starts on the same day under the management of Miss Schliehaug as teacher. She arrived on Saturday last direct from Elgin Co., Ont.

A prairie fire of some dimensions burned the ground black and destroyed a few stacks of hay last week. It began about 24 miles north-east of Clive and burned out to the road allowance north of Tees.

The Woman's Missionary Society met in their annual meeting on Wednesday last. About a dozen ladies were present. The motion pictures, held by members and associate helpers, were opened and found to contain over thirty dollars. Their income for the year, though the membership is small, will be about $55.00. The visiting ladies were entertained afterwards at the parsonage for a short time.

In the shipment of hogs, reported last week it is worthy of note that one raised by William Babb weighed 525 lbs.

Mr. T. Davidson has added to his greenhouse capacity this year. A new building has been put up 50 ft. x 12 ft. He intends to go more extensively into growing early vegetables.

Byron Carpenter is a new arrival from Washington state. He has settled on the old Fleming homestead near the chain lakes.

Mr. Fred Allison has purchased a Flour City Tractor and plowing outfit. It is a 60 horse power gasoline engine. He will plow, disc and seed the section of land he purchased north-east of here.

Miss Vella Reynolds spent Sunday with her parents and returned to Stettler on Tuesday.

Mrs. S. S. Foster and children formerly of Clive were visitors from Castor last week and were guests of Mrs. E. Proctor for a week.

A union neighborhood Sunday School has been started at Eclipse School under the leadership of Mr. Henry Elliott.

At the stock show at Calgary last week Mr. McGill won first and second prizes in the three-year-old Shorthorn bulls and 2nd and 3rd in 18 months old. J. Walters won fourth and fifth in this same class. Alberta exhibitors are complaining this year of unfair competition. An exhibitor from Regina had purchased in the east the best stock he could procure selected from prize winners at Toronto and Guelph fairs, and exhibited them alongside Alberta raised stock. There is a general feeling that hereafter such exhibitions must be placed in a class by themselves. The stock from here were all sold. Mr. McGill sold three head for $565. J. Walters received $155 a head for three, and J. Sharp $135.00 a head for a number.

Current Comment

The steam or gasoline plowing outfits seem to have come to stay. Quite a number of Alberta farmers are figuring just now whether they can make them pay. It is possible that the threshing and plowing problem on the farm will be solved soon by farmers combining into groups of six or ten and purchasing a separator and set of plows. When the traction engine can be used on the farm six months in the year, purchasers will not hesitate so long over investing in them.

How would you like to stand in line at the Lethbridge land office for a whole month for the privilege of selecting a homestead on the land thrown open the first of May? The men who do it will surely have the grit and perseverance to stand by the land of their adoption.

When the new lands were opened up in Oklahoma, it was a race from the border to the coveted quarter sections. First man there secured the prize. It was a mad stampede, but it was more sensible than this waiting out process of sticking to it for a month.

And now Whitney is coming forward with a counter proposition and intends to make treating a crime in Ontario. It looks hard for the old cronies that will meet next year in the market towns of that province. At any rate the reform forces can congratulate themselves that they have the political leaders moving towards the goal.

Home Rule for Ireland seems launched at last with a fair prospect for a successful voyage. Though the Channel is beset with dangerous reefs and rocks, Premier Asquith will probably steer the ship into the open sea. The rights and liberties of the minorities seem well guarded in the measure. It will take some time though to mitigate long established prejudices and animosities. It is difficult for the average Canadian to understand the bitter demonstrations of hostility. Were they for political effect? Or were they real, or both?

When the Minister mentioned that this measure was but the beginning in securing local government for Scotland, Wales and Eire, as well as being his strongest argument, The Imperial Parliament should be reserved for imperial questions. Matters of local interest and concern can best be treated by local parliament. A Canadian friend of ours, visiting in London, obtained permission to enter the House of Commons gallery. He expected to listen to the discussion of some great question, but heard instead a debate about the loss of some widow's cow on the rail road. We have got beyond that long ago in our house of commons and the Imperial Parliament must rise above local affairs.

The representatives of the West Indies, looking for better trade relations, have had their conference with the Dominion authorities and gone. The Australian representatives will be here soon. Germany is asking to be heard in regard to lowering of duties. They will probably all get mutual reciprocal advantages with us. That brings to mind something—a chance we had—not with the antipodes, nor people across the ocean, but one very near at home. It happened just a few months back, but it is sad, and we would rather not discuss it.

Alberta is already known as the "province of advanced legislation." Now here is the local opposition coming forward with the program of the Referendum, Initiative and Recall. It looks, whichever side is in power, that we are bound to try out the advances in new legislation and lead other provinces in reform.

When we compare the prices received by the farmer for the products of the dairy and poultry yard, with retail places in our large towns, we must come to one of two conclusions, either the consumer is paying too great a price for these commodities or else the producer is receiving "too little." It looks as if the middlemen, at those centres were making far greater profits per dozen than the farmer does. It will bear investigation.

WHERE THE FARMER LOSES

These warm, bright days of April are invaluable to the farmer and nearly all are taking advantage of the loss of time by doing a nice thing to do the right thing at the right time. The right time is the first opportunity. By delay the farmer can easily lose $50.00 every day he neglects to get his land.

We figure it out this way. By sowing grain now, it will, in all probability, ripen before the early frosts reach here. We will take the grain sown here in good average yield would be 60 bushels an acre. No. 2 Canada western oats will now sell on the track for 36c a bushel. This means a return per acre of $21.60.

Ground plowed the first of May or later will in an average year make the crop fit to be sown. Then the farmer get a yield of 30 bushels to the acre and for No. 1 feed oats he can now obtain 30c a bushel, which means $9.00 per acre return. You see the difference is $12.60 an acre. We will lower it to $10.00. A good plowing outfit will turn over five acres a day. This means a clean grain field for work done now of $50.00 a day. In other words the farmer loses $50.00 every day he lingers now. If he lost this amount on the way home from the elevator he would spend the rest of the day looking for it and a whole month regretting it. But he cannot pick up this $50.00. It is a clear loss and no one is a gainer by it.

If the farmer is working at something else that brings him in fifty dollars a day, he can afford to treat this matter lightly, but if not he cannot afford to lose the amount. Better get "Bully" and "Dick" and "Jerry" and "Bill" hitched to the gang plow and stay on the job until it is finished. There are always men who are willing to take the risk. Once in four years they can sow late and reap a good crop and perhaps they can this year—yes, perhaps. But the farmer who persists in trying conclusions that in three years

Trophy for Barley

The following letter has been received by F. L. Smith, Ltd., with reference to the trophy being offered by the Calgary Brewing and Malting Co.: CALGARY, Can., Mar. 15. Charles Watkins, Esq., Lacombe, Alberta.

Dear Sir:—The trophy we are offering for the best sample of malted barley has been forwarded to you by express prepaid.

In judging the samples of barley competing for this trophy, we suggest the following basis for the judges to work on, for a possible hundred points: weight 60, uniformity 15, color 15, condition 10.

We are sending you four samples of barley in glass jars, so that the farmers may inspect the different grades and learn what is required in a good article.

Sample number 3 is the lowest grade that we buy, and we only buy it when we cannot get any other.

Sample number 2 is from the crop of 1909, and is an excellent example of choice color. It was grown within forty miles of Calgary but is two rowed barley, and we do not advise the growing of two rowed barley of this color in Alberta, owing to the weather conditions.

Sample number 1, A, is a sample of Idaho two rowed barley and also shows excellent color.

The prices of these samples in the Calgary market the past season were 60c for No. 3, extra, and 65c to 68c for No. 3, extra, and there was no No. 2 offered. We paid one man 5 cents a bushel extra for stacking his barley and maturing it properly before threshing.

Barley should be sown early, so the grain will get a chance to ripen before the early fall frosts.

When barley is cut, the "stooks" should be capped if there is likely to be any wet weather in order to protect the grain from rains or heavy dew, and if the grain is stacked before threshing, it will be through a sweating process and harden, bringing a much better price when offered in the market.

In threshing, care should be taken that the grain is not threshed too close, as this results in some broken kernels which is one of the greatest objections to barley for malting. Broken grains will not sprout and on the malt floor they come mouldy among the sound young grains.

Yours truly, Calgary Brewing & Malting Co., Ltd.

The White Sister

Plays that have a religious or church title usually frighten and drive away the ordinary playgoer from the theatre, leaving the patronage to the church element of society who only patronize such plays. It is not so with the great Viola Allen success "The White Sister," which the charming actress, Jeanne Towler and her splendid company will present at the Comet Theatre on Wednesday, April 24. Although "The White Sister" is the story of a nun, it breathes of all the passionate, romantic love of the Italian, earthy and spiritual human manner. It has all the beauty and fragrance of the peaceful convent life and again it pulsates with the fiery spirit of the impetuous soldier-lover.

The great conflict between a woman's earthly and spiritual life is fought through four inspiring scenes that hold the auditors spellbound in their seats and never for one second loses its gripping interest until the final curtain falls and the audience leaves the theatre happy in the thought that "the right has been done." "The White Sister" affords opportunity of acting of superior quality and gives Miss Towler a chance to demonstrate her right to her position as the most beautiful American emotional actress. The production is strikingly picturesque and presented with the same minute attention to detail that characterized the original Lieber and Co., production in New York. This company comes here direct from Sherman Grand, Calgary.

THE BRICK YARD

One industry that Lacombe should try to develop is brick making. The Lacombe Brick, Tile and Cement Co. have established a plant near the town and for the past three or four years have operated it. They have brick clay unsurpassed in the country. Their work has demonstrated that the business is a paying one, and there is an unlimited market for brick. With the citizens behind it more machinery could be installed, drying sheds could be built, burning sheds put in shape to turn out an amount of brick greatly in excess of their present capacity. Here is one business that would be of great benefit to the town, as the greater the output the larger number of men there will be employed, and an addition to our population would naturally follow. It is worth the serious consideration of the citizens of Lacombe. The company would like to sell or lease the plant, and to take a share at present, with a view to developing the plant.

THE FLOUR MILL.

And while we are in the industry boosting business, what is the matter with getting busy on the flour mill that has been established here for the past several years. This is an industry that surely is needed in this part of the country. It has been neglected by our citizens. As in most industries in small towns, the great drawback to Leacombe's flour mill is we understand, lack of capital to keep it up to date. The plant is required to be replaced, but as it goes, and is making money for its proprietor, although only worked in a casual way. Later, if people with money in this concern, and I should be a winner, that is required to be replaced, an elevator in which to store grain and money enough to buy the grain with which to fill it. This money was, I understand, Leacombe would be the centre of the business, as the people of Central Alberta, from Red Deer to Wetaskiwin and from Stettin to Prairie Grande. An institution of this sort is a heavy employer of labor, and would give steady employment to the people of the country. I feel as it should be. It was not to increase the population.

the town we have to provide means to develop industries we already have before trying to bring in others. By all means rejuvenate the flour mill. It will be the best advertisement the town can get.

—O—
THE PLANING MILL.

And another thing to boast is the Lacombe Plowing mill. This mill has been established here for the past six or seven years, and the machinery in it was considered adequate at the time it was installed. At the present time it is badly in need of repairs, and, in fact, it is practically out of business. All this money making industry needs is money to make it a success. There is an ever increasing demand all through this part of Alberta for mill work, and the Lacombe mill turned work of all kinds—brought into Lacombe by the car load. No better investment could be made than by putting this plant into shape to do work and it is worth while to do it. The Lacombe Plowing mill is to grow, we must have labor employing industries here if one really to develop with all the work it can do in sight. There is no use in bringing an industry and letting it go, the way so many of the industrial areas in our province have.

COMBINATION KEY

not what the creamery needs—it is patronage from the farmers—more cream. Nothing advertises a district more than a thriving creamery, and farmers who are patronizing the Lacombe creamery state that no part of their farming business pays better profits. Every farmer who is in a position to do so, should send his cream to the Lacombe Creamery, and thus help to build up a permanent and profitable industry in the town.

The Sub-Division Confidence Game

A gentleman who has just returned from a business trip to Ontario, gave the Western Globe a little light on the sub-division question, and the great damage wild-cutting is doing to the real-estate market in Toronto, London, Galt and other Ontario cities, the western provinces are receiving a setback on account of the unloading (he there they got) upon their citizens of the real-estate sub-divisionists to cities, towns and villages in Alberta and Saskatchewan. The most serious thing in connection with this sub-division business is the fact that the practice of sub-divisionists in addition to the small towns of the west, are almost everywhere people with limited means, who, alarmed by the pretty advertisements, invest their hard-earned money in saving in one of two lots and wait for the speculations of the sub-division boosters to come true. These predictions in houses and lots cannot come true. In many cases the lot will never be the original size. The greatest proportion of sub-division buyers are in a very few years, due to the income inequalities, and locally the market will fall back on the original lot. The sub-divisionists are, from what state they should never have been encouraged. We would think the state should take some action to prevent this kind of thing, and in a reported within the boundaries is sufficient to provide all the business and residential property required to from five to ten thousand. From the fact that the sub-division is being sold to unsophisticated suckers in the east.

The Toronto Saturday Night and other reliable papers in Canada are making a strong fight in the interests of the investors. The editor of the Toronto paper has gathered information from reliable sources with reference to every subdivision being put on the market in the east, and by publishing this information has practically put this pernicious confidence game out of business.
